if (od) is the next generation in automated gourmet vending services brought to you by locally renowned Premier Provision Services Group (PPS). PPS is pleased to introduce the iFOD concept of “on demand vending.” iFOD offers customized product selection, remote monitoring of inventory, enhanced payment solutions (credit/debit card and virtual wallet) and online customer feedback surveys—all now as simple as a click of a button. As a pioneer in reliable gourmet vending machine systems in New York City, we have always provided a greater array of healthier, more nutritious products with state of the art, energy-efficient vending machines that are simple to maintain and easy to use. These are among the many reasons we have earned our reputation as the gourmet vending service provider of choice.

if you have ever found yourself craving a quick and tasty snack, then you have most certainly considered whether what you were planning to put into your body was any good for you. Putting desire aside, sugar, additives, calories, and spare change all factor into your decision when reaching for a quick treat. iFOD makes your decision easy by offering you nutritious and convenient choices. Our machines provide you with the widest array of the highest quality products in the vending industry combined with the convenience of being able to purchase these products with a swipe of your credit/debit card or smartphone. We even offer treats for your pets! With our online survey forms, you are able to request additional products and provide feedback so that we can fine-tune our offerings to suit your needs. This is what “INTELLIGENT” vending is all about.

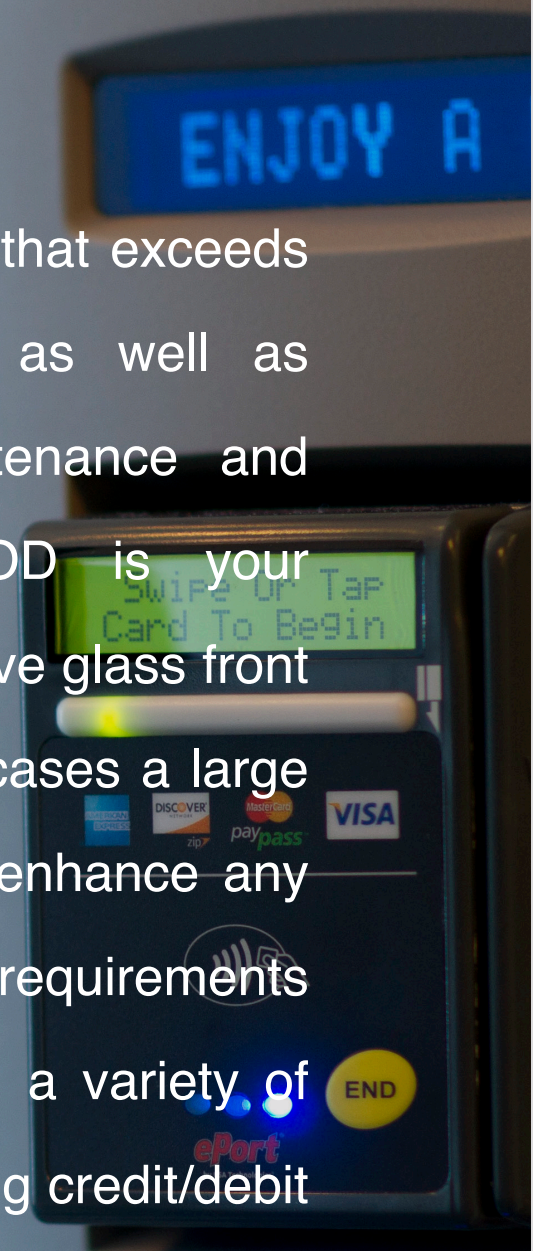

if you were to offer the iFOD automated gourmet vending system at your location, you would DEMAND the utmost in quality, healthy selection and dependability. You would also DEMAND timely and consistent maintenance where any and all issues are nipped in the bud. The iFOD service team monitors each machine remotely 24/7, guaranteeing that our equipment is fully supplied with the products you have DEMANDED and any major issues are anticipated and avoided. We believe that we must ensure a seamless automated service, provide the widest array of premium product selections customized to our clients' needs, and make their transactions as effortless as possible. This belief forms the foundation for the solid relationship between us and our clients.
